> Sets the minimum in-office expectation, remote eligibility, and the home-office stipend.

1. Default Working Model

TechTrapture operates a hybrid-first model. Office-assigned employees are expected on-site a minimum of 3 days per week, with Tuesday and Thursday designated as company-wide anchor days.

Teams may set a fourth required day with director approval where collaboration needs justify it.

2. Fully Remote Roles

A limited set of roles are approved as fully remote and are exempt from the 3-day expectation. Fully remote status is approved at the VP level and recorded in the People Portal.

Fully remote employees must be reachable during the core collaboration window of 10:00–15:00 in their assigned team time zone.

3. Home Office Stipend

Eligible remote and hybrid employees receive a one-time home-office setup stipend of $600 and an annual refresh allowance of $200, claimed through the Expense Portal.

The stipend covers desk, chair, monitor, and peripherals. It does not cover internet service, which is reimbursed separately at $40 per month for fully remote employees only.

4. Working From a Different Location

Employees may work from a location other than their registered home or office for up to 20 working days per year domestically without prior approval, provided security requirements are met.

International remote work requires People and Tax review and is capped at 30 days per year.
