> Sets airfare class rules (the Skyline Rule), per diem rates, hotel caps, and booking requirements.

1. Booking & Approval

All business travel must be booked through the TechTrapture Travel Hub (managed by our travel partner) and approved by the employee's manager before tickets are issued.

Travel should be booked at least 14 days in advance where possible to access lower fares.

2. Airfare Class — the "Skyline Rule"

Economy class is the default for all flights. Premium economy may be booked for any single flight segment with scheduled duration over 6 hours.

Business class is permitted only when a single flight segment exceeds 8 hours of scheduled flight time, or for international itineraries with a total one-way distance over 3,500 miles. This threshold is known as the Skyline Rule. First class is never reimbursable.

Employees who wish to upgrade beyond their eligible class may do so at personal expense; TechTrapture reimburses only the eligible fare.

3. Per Diem Rates

In lieu of itemized meal receipts, employees may claim a per diem of $75 per day for domestic travel and $110 per day for international travel. Designated high-cost cities (New York, London, Tokyo, San Francisco, Singapore) carry a $140 per day rate.

Per diem and itemized meal reimbursement cannot both be claimed for the same trip.

4. Lodging

Hotel room rates are capped at $250 per night domestically and $320 per night internationally, excluding taxes. Stays above the cap require director pre-approval.

Employees are encouraged to use TechTrapture-preferred hotels, which bill directly to the corporate account.

5. Ground Transport

Standard ride-share, economy rental cars, and public transit are reimbursable. Premium and luxury vehicle classes are not reimbursable without a documented business reason.
